“Having visibility on our spend really helped us to formulate plans either to mitigate risks or create opportunities and leverage our strength, with the ability to react quickly by having access to data and being able to visualize data – and not having to rely on manual visualization of info or spreadsheets that are a million miles long.”

“I can't believe how inefficient we would be if we had not implemented Sievo as a procurement analytics solution and, hereby, as a single point of truth a few years back. I get around 20 questions from our leadership about spend figures, now it takes me like 15 seconds to find the information.”
